DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 11, 24, 41, 59, 79, 91 and 106 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. The claims contain improper Markush language. When the last conjunction is "and", proper Markush language is "selected from the group consisting of".

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 113 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-33 of copending Application No. 10/722,870. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because all of the ingredients of the instant composition are claimed by the copending application.

Art Unit: 1714

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 1-113 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eastman Chemical Company WO 99/47605, in view of Shih et al. 5,534,570, Blumenthal et al. 5,750,605 or JP-4-117432 (for plasticizers) and Klatt et al. 6,538,054 or JP-2002-53740 (for flame retardants) and Kanno 5,998,005 or JP-2000-186191 (for lubricants).

Art Unit: 1714

9. Eastman discloses applicants' polyester, stabilizer and a slip agent in claims 1-32, lubricants in the paragraph overlapping pages 6 and 7, plasticizers and flame-retardants in the paragraph overlapping pages 7 and 8. The examiner assumes that the polyester in the reference satisfies the requirements for claims 1 and 70. Shih et al. teach polyester and plasticizers in claim 1. Blumenthal et al. recite polyester in claim 1 and diethylene glycol dibenzoate in claim 18. JP-4-117432 divulges polyester and plasticizers in claim 1. See also pages 6-7. JP-2002-53740 reveals polyester and phosphoric acid ester in claim 1. Klatt et al. display polyester and pentaerythritol tetrastearate in claim 1 and resorcinol bis (diphenyl phosphate) in claim 3. Kanno describes polyester in claim 1 and lubricants in claim 9. JP-2000-186191 presents polyester in claim 1 and lubricants in claims 1-5. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art; at the time the invention was made, to add the ingredients of the secondary references to the composition of the primary reference, since they are customarily used with polyesters.
